Electronic Signature Notice

The Mississippi Workers' Compensation Commission currently accepts electronic signatures from attorneys and represented parties. However, the only two electronic signature applications currently accepted by the Commission are DocuSign and Nintex AssureSign. Whenever an electronically signed document is submitted to the Commission for filing or for any other purpose, it must be accompanied by a Document Completion Report. Otherwise, the document will be treated as if it is unsigned. Further, the Commission must be able to determine by looking at the electronic signature or the Document Completion Report which application was used to create the electronic signature.
